Miss Victoria Tests Stetson

A smiling Miss Victoria, Betty Dolman, beamed as J. Howard Kelly, right, head of the visiting Calgary Chamber of Commerce group, tested the traditional Calgary Stetson hat which he later

TLC Convention Gets Hot On Racial Discrimination

REGINA (CP)—Racial discrimination in Canada erupted into one of the warmest issues to hit the Trades and Labor Congress convention since it opened Monday.

As delegates approved continued congress action to fight discrimination, two of the country's senior labor leaders tangled Thursday over a charge that Jewish contractors are exploiting labor.

Jack Bruce of Toronto, 79-year-old Canadian head of the plumbers' union, made the accusation against Jewish contractors in Toronto.

Bernard Shane of Montreal, international vice-president of the Garment Workers' Union and Canada's top Jewish labor man, angrily replied that the Jews have no monopoly on exploiters.

The exchange came as the

Claude Jodoin Picked To Succeed Bengough

REGINA (CP)—Claude Jodoin, 41, of Montreal, was elected Thursday as president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the youngest head of the TLC in its 70-year history.

Jodoin, a brawny six-footer who has been an organizer for the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and Quebec vice-president of the congress, succeeded 71-year-old Percy Bengough of Vancouver, who had retired after a dozen years as president.

He won over R. K. Gervin, 46, of Vancouver, British Columbia vice-president, and Allister F.

MacArthur, 43, of Toronto, president of the TLC's Ontario Federation of Labor.

In the TLC's first presidential election in 12 years—Bengough was always acclaimed—Jodoin won Canadian labor's most influential post on the first ballot. The vote was Jodoin, 355; Gervin, 172; MacArthur, 151.

Five years a vice-president of Canada's oldest and largest central labor body, Jodoin has held many labor offices and has been a provincial and municipal politician besides. He is a member of the Montreal city council and is a former Liberal member of the Quebec legislature.

Ex-Junkman Seeks Empire

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis E. Wolfson, once a Florida junk dealer, has launched a bid to gain control of the giant Montgomery Ward & Co., pre-empting probably one of the bitterest business fights in years.

Man Wanted in Calgary Slaying Believed Held by Police in U.S.

Fingerprints Tally, Authorities State

CALGARY (CP)—A man whose fingerprints are reported to tally with those of Donald Winslow Henderson, Canada's most-wanted criminal and alleged murderer of a young girl here, is in custody of South San Francisco police, the Calgary police officials said Thursday.

Authorities said they were advised by the U.S. police that the suspect was arrested Thursday after a check of his fingerprints. He had been arrested a week ago on a liquor charge and released, but the fingerprint sent police out to pick him up again.

Capt. August Terragno of the south San Francisco homicide detail said the man was going under the name of Raymond Martin.

Henderson is wanted by Calgary police in connection with the slaying of his fiancée, Yvonne Levesque, in a Calgary tourist cabin August 11, 1948. The RCMP has had him at the top of their most-wanted criminals list for some time.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was working as a draftsman for a San Francisco factory.

The U.S. official said the man denied he had ever been in Canada and likely would force extradition proceedings before he could be taken out of the country. He had been in south San Francisco for two months, going there from Portland, Ore.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was single and living in a rooming house and appeared to have "a pretty fair job."

Henderson disappeared from a cabin at the Ingleside tourist camp in east Calgary the day of the 1949 slaying as police tried unsuccessfully to revive Miss Levesque, who had been fatally beaten.

A few days later he was identified by a rooming house keeper in Winnipeg, but disappeared again before police arrived and was never seen again.

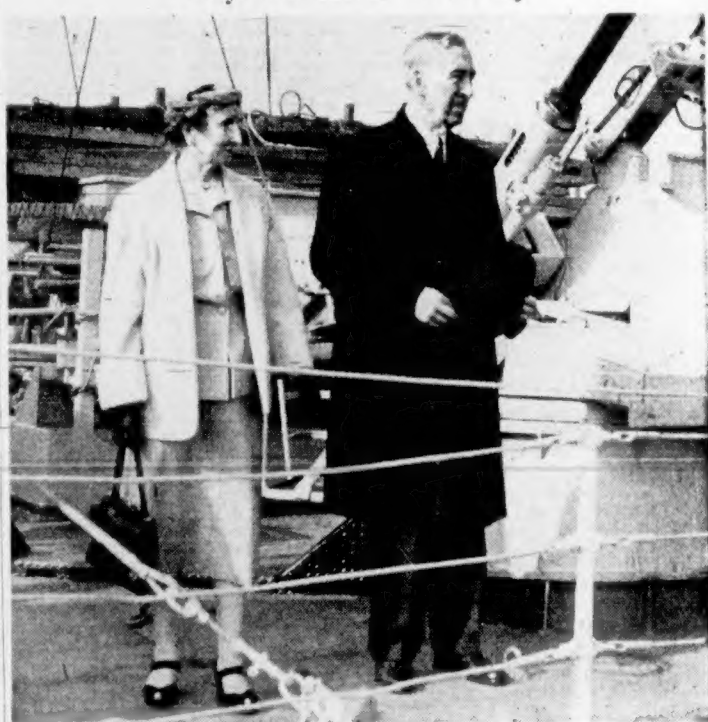

AWAIT INFORMATION

Calgary police said they are waiting further information from south San Francisco before planning any move.

After it has been learned if the suspect will return to Calgary voluntarily, detectives will then decide on plans to escort him and lay formal charges.

Meanwhile, Calgary police have instructed authorities in the U.S. to hold the suspect in custody.

Mayhews Home—To Stay

Back home in Victoria to stay are Hon. Robert Mayhew, Canada's retiring ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Mayhew. The former Victoria MP was met by more than 100 persons, including civic and government dignitaries. The two returned yesterday aboard the frigate HMCS New Glasgow. (See story on Page 5.)

Red Chinese Raid Nationalist Island

TOKYO (AP)—About 40 Chinese Communist soldiers made a hit-and-run raid on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy, just off the Red mainland, Peiping radio said yesterday.

Peiping claimed two squads of 20 men each made two separate landings on the island Monday night, killed 11 Nationalist soldiers and captured one, then withdrew.

An earlier broadcast had announced a successful landing by "people's liberation forces," but it gave no hint of the scope of the attack, nor did it mention that the attackers withdrew.

KILLED IN SLEEP

The latest broadcast said one of the two attacking squads "penetrated the defense line" on Quemoy and found two groups of sleeping Nationalist soldiers. Ten of the sleepers were killed and one captured, Peiping said. The other squad claimed it killed a Nationalist soldier found bathing.

The raiders were from Fukien province, nearest mainland point to Quemoy.

The U.S. 7th Fleet is in the Far East under basic instructions to defend Formosa, island stronghold of the Nationalist government. The state department in Washington had no comment on the raid.

WEEKS OF THREATS

For several weeks the Red radio has blared threats that the Communists were going to "liberate" Formosa and destroy the government of Chiang Kai-shek.

But even if the Reds captured Quemoy, they would be far from their goal. Formosa is 100 miles from the mainland and guarded by 600,000 American-armed troops.

Washington officials minimized the sneak landings as a small skirmish, possibly a reconnaissance raid.

The Red Chinese talk of "liberating" Formosa has been discounted all along.

To military officials, the lack of any reported troop movement along the coast opposite Formosa has meant no large-scale assault landing is in the offing. To diplomats, political factors inside China indicate Peiping can not deliver on its loud talk.

De Gaulle Blast Hits EDC Hopes

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle Thursday aimed a scathing denunciation of the European Defense Community plan as supporters of the treaty fought to save it from collapse in a fast-approaching French Parliament debate.

De Gaulle, Second World War commander of Free French forces, threw his still great prestige into the scales against EDC in a manifesto assailing it as a "plot to deprive France of her independence and of her army and to separate her from her overseas territories."

He predicted that a "national

Co-Existence Only Hope, Says Nehru

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told parliament Thursday "co-existence" is the only alternative to co-existence with Communist countries.

"Whether he likes the present state of affairs in the world or not, one has in fact to choose between a policy likely to lead to war in the biggest scale and acceptance of the general approach meant by the word co-existence," Nehru declared.

Nehru defined co-existence as nations existing where they are and not interfering with each other. He said India and Red China are bound to come together either in a friendly or unfriendly way and he wants it to be friendly.

Columbia-educated B. R. Ambedkar, spokesman for 60,000-000 untouchables countered that Nehru shows repugnance at anything suggested by the United States.

Flood Ruins Part of Span

EDMONTON (CP)—Swollen North Saskatchewan River waters rising at a rate of five inches an hour, swept away three sections of construction work on the $2,000,000 west end bridge Thursday, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage.

PNE Selects Principals In Controversial Wedding

VANCOUVER (CP)—The principals in the Pacific National Exhibition's "million-dollar" wedding were chosen Thursday in the midst of a chorus of protest from city clergymen who labelled the proposed ceremony a "cheap publicity stunt."

While the ethical aspect of the September 2 wedding was being debated heatedly between PNE officials and clergymen, the PNE announced the selection of Marion Jane MacDonald and former disc jockey Wilf Ray as the bride and groom-to-be. They were chosen from a field of 12 finalists.

Ray, now a real estate agent, criticized what he termed the "ugly slant" some people have taken on the wedding, and added: "They are forgetting about the bride and groom."

Ray said Miss MacDonald, whom he met while working in a radio station 4½ years ago, had planned their marriage "long before" the couple had ever heard of the "exhibition" wedding.

"... It was going to cost us a lot and then fate came along to give us a big wedding effect without costing us too much money," said Ray. "Now we can put the money into a house and other things."

The wedding, sponsored by a Vancouver jewelry firm which is adorning the bride in $1,000,000 worth of diamonds, was originally planned for the PNE gateway, with a false church-front in the background.

But clerical protests prompted PNE officials to move the location to a theatre on the exhibition grounds.

However, no minister has yet agreed to officiate at the ceremony, and many reiterated their charges of "commercial, mockery, fate and stunt."

Duke Happy Pumping Mud From Ancient Galleon

TOBERMORY, Scotland (AP)—The 51-year-old Duke of Argyll pumped mud at a furious rate Thursday, having as much fun as a kid digging for treasure.

And treasure was what the duke was after, out on the rippling surface of misty Tobermory Bay.

On a little ship of the type the Scots call a puffer, the duke

A card under the picture said the girl had won second place honors in a national beauty contest for sightless girls. Thornton forgot her.

Six months later he was blinded in action in Korea. On September 25, Thornton will marry Joyce Campbell, 21, the Cloquet blind girl.

The two have never seen each other, but met by chance in April of 1953.

"It was a blind date," Joyce laughed.

"I always hoped I would marry a blind man," Joyce said. "It gives us a solid foundation for marriage." She lost her sight at 13 after being hit in the eye by an icy snowball.

belongs to the duke, except one hundredth part which belongs to the Queen. It is the duke's by virtue of a "deed of gift" made to his forebears by King Charles I in 1642.

Every couple of years the duke has a go at salvaging the galleon. Thus far he has recovered some cups and saucers, two bronze cannon, some chunks of timber and a few coins.

Duchess Arrives in Toronto For Today's Exhibition Opening

TORONTO (CP)—The Duchess of Kent, smiling and attractive in a blue dress, arrived with her daughter, Princess Alexandra, at Union Station Thursday night for opening ceremonies of the Canadian National Exhibition today.

The Royal pair were greeted when they alighted from their private train by Lieutenant-Governor L. O. Breithaupt, Ontario Premier Leslie Frost, Toronto Mayor Leslie Saunders, CNE president Robert Saunders and CNE general manager Hiram McCallum and their wives.

A crowd of more than 1,000 milled around the main course of the station when the official party passed through and crossed the street to the Royal York Hotel where the duchess has the entire 16th floor reserved.

The 17-year-old princess, following a few paces behind her mother and surrounded by RCMP guards and Toronto police officers, smiled and waved to the crowd.

Two and a half strenuous days of receptions, dinners and public engagements lie ahead of the duchess and her daughter during their Toronto visit.

The duchess will push a button that will unfurl a flag at 2:30 today, signalling the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition, world's largest annual fair.

CNE president Robert Saunders said Thursday the prospects look bright. Officials are aiming for an attendance of 3,000,000 during the two-week show. Last year's attendance—2,619,500—was reduced by a severe heat wave.

Saturday the duchess will lead the march past salute, accompanied by Defense Minister Campney.

Aside from their two short visits to the CNE, no other public engagements have been planned. But Mayor Saunders has invited the duchess and the princess to make a public appearance on city hall steps or to drive down University Avenue so Toronto citizens might welcome them.

There will be three private dinners, two official dinners, one luncheon, one reception and three occasions on which the pair will receive a long list of dignitaries.

The Royal party will leave for Niagara Falls Sunday afternoon after attending a church service.

Men Outnumber Women By 198,000 in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's menfolk are getting ahead of the opposite sex, in numbers at least.

The Bureau of Statistics estimated yesterday that men outnumbered women in the 10 provinces by 198,000 at the start of June—7,683,000 to 7,485,000. It was the greatest numerical difference between the sexes in five years.

The figures do not include the Yukon and Northwest Territories, whose population at June 1 brought the total to 15,195,000.

The standing by provinces includes: Manitoba, 420,300 men and 407,700 women; Saskatchewan, 475,300 and 420,700; Alberta, 542,500 and 496,500; British Columbia, 645,700 and 620,300.

Case of the BAD BROTHER

BY PAUL FAIRMAN

(Copyright, 1954, Paul Fairman. Illustrations copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.)

The first man to make it was thin, white-faced. He wore a wet hat and a slick, black raincoat, and carried an odd, slant-butted gun. He snarled, "There he is!" before the 45 barked. Then he went cross-eyed, looking into the big red hole where the middle of his face had been. He climbed up on his toes and came on across the room, like a ballet dancer tripping over invisible wires. When he fell, it was straight forward, with a crash that shook the furniture.

Larry didn't see him fall. He was busy snapping a shot at the second man, a dapper little fellow with a carnation in his button-hole and a nice crease in his pants.

The pretty torpedo rushed into the room, full of business, carrying a cute little gun, all chromium and ivory. Once inside, he hesitated, as though he had suddenly decided that he didn't want to die. It was too late. He was already dead.

The third invader was almost as large as the space he came through. He had a dark, olive face. An old knife wound crawled up the side of his face and disappeared under his hat. His eyes were black bayonets, slicing across the room at Joe who reached down into his throat and brought up a word: "Carozzi!"

The big mobster raised a shiny, nickel-plated revolver, while Joe buried his head in his arms.

The gun fell to the floor as Larry put five slugs into the left lapel of his $200 overcoat. Carozzi lived for a while on his nerve. He shuddered at the first impact of the bullets and looked surprised. He had not even seen Larry Cunningham. He looked around, stupidly. His fall was in slow motion.

As Carozzi floundered on the floor, Joe jumped to his feet and ran out the door, down the steps, and into the street.

Larry got up, went to the door and looked out. All was quiet. The tenants of the yellow building had learned the value of minding their own business.

Larry turned back, looked down at Carozzi. "Three came a hunting," he mused, "and didn't fire a shot." He walked over to the telephone, picked it up, said softly, "Let me have the Detective Bureau, sister."

Night quiet soaked through the walls of Chief Regan's office, permeated the room. He sat at his desk, resting his big body on beamlike arms along its edge. He didn't look like a chief of detectives at three o'clock in the morning. He looked like an old man who belonged home in bed.

Regan looked up sourly and went on thinking as Larry paced the floor until Regan slammed a fist on the desk and said, "That's the way it's got to be. You're not in the picture at all. The gun was Joe's. Your brother has three more killings tied to his tail, that's all."

Larry walked over to the desk. "How about the newspapers?"

"They'll ride along. They won't have anything else to go on."

And Joe—when they bring him in?"

Regan's eyes got crafty. "What makes you think they'll bring him in?"

"In shape to talk you mean?"

"Look, if ever a guy had thirteen strikes on him, your brother is the guy."

Larry pushed a hand through his hair. "As long as this is Questions and Answers, how about this one. Why not tell them the truth?"

"And have them blast out about how a cop from the bureau covered his no-good baby-killer of a relative when he was supposed to be out hunting him down?"

Larry put his hands on the desk and braced himself. "I went out to get Joe," he said tightly. "I lost my nerve. I went back again. While I was in there, Carozzi and his two office boys came calling."

"And Joe got fed up with the color of the wallpaper and went apartment hunting," rasped Regan.

Larry's voice stayed the same. "Joe beat it. I could have brought him down with a slug. I didn't."

The chief's face split in two while he yawned.

"The newspaper boys won't believe it," he said flatly. "I don't believe it myself."

"I don't give four good whoops what you believe." With that Larry slid a hand under his left arm and came up with the gun they call a Police Positive. He laid it on the desk. He took a wallet from his hip pocket, unplanned his badge, dropped it beside the gun.

"If you want to prefer charges I'll be home. Or do you want to throw me in the clink right now?"

Regan rumbled, "Don't be silly."

Larry let himself out of the chief's office with as much noise as a second story man going after the family silver.

Down in the street with soft rain on his face, Larry relaxed. He shook visibly. A wave of nausea came and went. The change came as he drove through silent streets.

A sudden feeling of freedom. For years he had been living under a shaky roof, waiting for it to fall. Now it had fallen. It was over.

He felt giddy, light-headed. He reached his apartment building, got out of the car, left it unlocked, and danced up the stairs on pink clouds.

He went inside and turned on lights everywhere. Larry went into the bedroom, lay down on the bed, and before the rim of his hat hit the spread, he was asleep.

The incessant buzzing of the phone was like the nagging of a conscience, trapped in some far-off place.

Larry stirred and pawed blindly for the instrument, got it to his ear. He managed a salutatory grunt while the voice at the other end ripped away the mask of sleep.

He straightened up and said sharply, "Come again."

Phyllis Whelan answered, "Larry! Larry! Hurry! They're in Dad's study. Someone's going to get killed!"

He didn't hear anymore. The voice of Phyllis talked on—to the bedspread—while Larry gunned the motor of his car down in the street.

The rain had turned into snow, and Larry gripped the wheel, looking out at the dark world through narrowed eyes.

Alderman Whelan lived in an overgrown red brick house. Phyllis opened the door for Larry. Her face was very white.

"I've been a fool, Larry. I've been blind," she said, but it was as if she were talking more to herself than to him.

"Where are they?"

"In the study. Joe came to the back door. I let him in myself. He asked for father and they've been in the study for an hour. I guess I should have called you sooner—before they began fighting."

Larry's frown cut her off. "The hall door is locked, but you can go through the library here." She led him to a drained driveway. "There's a sliding door between the two rooms with no lock. Oh Larry—"

Larry said, "You stay here," and walked away from her, into the library.

Churchmen Frame New Proclamation On Christian Hopes

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A global convocation of Christians Thursday framed a new proclamation of their worldly and other-worldly hopes—with the hope they can chorus it in unison.

It will be brought before the World Council of Churches as present world is also "anchored to him with unshakable hope."

"He rules over all history by the powers of His Cross and resurrection and nothing can pluck this world out of His hands," the message says.

"His eternal purpose of redemption will be brought to its complete consummation," said Thursday night he has re-

CHANGED VERSION

The new statement deletes various parts of earlier drafts which stirred objections, including an assertion of "special responsibility" of carrying the "hope of Christ" to Jews.

It also eliminates a statement that a full advisory commission report on Christian hope is "acceptable to the majority of the assembly."

But it does propose that the full report be sent to the churches with the assembly's "commendation" for their "steady prayer and encouragement."

Other changes also aim at reconciling various conflicting views.

Bishop Albert Berceky of the Reformed Church of Hungary said Thursday night he has received an invitation to testify before a House of Representatives subcommittee on Communist aggression.

Called Affront The bishop said he had not notified Rep. Alvin Bentley (R., Mich.) of his rejection. The bishop added that he considered it an affront by Bentley in releasing to the press the text of the invitation to testify before he had received it.

Bishop Berceky and four other Hungarian churchmen are attending the World Council assembly.

Bentley, in his telegram Wednesday, asked them to testify because "statements made by a member of your delegation in the effect that complete religious freedom exists today in Hungary are in direct conflict with testimony before this committee."

Daffodil Drop Recalled

Memories of the chilly spring day when the Victoria Chamber of Commerce dropped 5,000 daffodils on Calgary were swapped by two Calgarians and Daffodil Queen Jean Spedding, now Mrs. Jean Johnson, when 86 Calgarians returned honors yesterday.

Defecting German Claims Secret Deals

BERLIN (UPI)—A turncoat of revived German militarism, West German legislator told a Communist-sponsored press conference yesterday the United States and West Germany had agreed secretly to create a 48-division army four times larger than allowed by the European Defense Community pact.

Wittmack, 40, denounced as a traitor by the Bonn government when he defected to East Berlin a week ago, was obviously delivering a final Communist shot aimed at destroying EDC.

His statements, which brought immediate and emphatic denials by West Germany and the United States, came just two days before the French National Assembly begins debate on the apparently doomed pact.

All of his statements, including the assertion that the "secretly agreed" German army would have a powerful air force and paratroop formations, were aimed directly at French fears

Kiwanis Plans Parley

Victoria's three Kiwanis Clubs will really turn it on for the 1,200-odd delegates who will flood the city for the 37th annual Pacific Northwest District Kiwanis convention here September 12 through 14.

Members of the various committees met at Oak Bay Beach Hotel last night to discuss the latest plans and iron out difficulties.

Oak Bay Kiwanis, host club, is being assisted by the City and Victoria North clubs.

Committeemen were told a head of "Indians" would greet all delegates arriving by boat from the Mainland and United States.

Austin Curtis will travel on the ships coming up from Seattle and Port Angeles to answer any questions the delegates might ask.

A backdrop used at the national convention at Miami earlier this year and valued at $300 will be hung in the Empress Hotel.

There will be a fishing derby in Saanich Inlet for delegates on the Wednesday following the convention.

Among those attending the convention will be the international president, Don E. Engdahl, of Spokane, Wash.

Saanich Playgrounds Wind Up Summer's Fun

The 1954 summer program at Saanich playgrounds will come to a happy ending with final events at two parks today and tomorrow.

Meadow Park playground will wind up activities with closing events from 6 to 9 p.m. today.

The closing program at Brackfoot Playground begins at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Meadow Park's grand finale includes a father-and-son baseball game, pony rides, a fancy dress parade, a decorated vehicle contest for children, home-cooking games, a fish pond and races for children.

Residents of the Gorge area are invited to attend at the park at Dyar and Ken Avenues.

PONIES AT BRACKFOOT Pony rides will be the feature at Brackfoot, which will also provide games, a putting green, refreshments, a candy stall, a grab bag and a draw for an electric clock, a hamper of groceries and a cottage roll.

Three other playparks completed their summer schedules last Friday.

Children at Strawberry Vale chose Vicki Poliano to present a message to Mrs. Doreen Jones, supervisor. The older girls presented messages to all mothers who assisted at the playground.

K. R. Hineke, president of the Strawberry Vale Community Club, spoke briefly and the children appeared in a pantomime, a humorous show and a talent show.

An exhibition of tumbling and bar work was directed by Const. C. Dickson, RCMP, and handicrafts were displayed before old-time and square-dancing by the Lo's Dance Club of Victoria ended the show.

Broadmead Park's closing program saw Broadmead defeat Strawberry Vale 9-3 in a father-and-son baseball game.

Pennants were presented to 10 children for excellent in various activities during the summer.

They were Terry Beadle, Maureen Butler, John Mahee, Bobby Barrett, Billy Howden, Susan Harvey, Beverly Garland, Murray Howden, John Ball and Gail Bennett.

Winners of leathercraft prizes at the closing Hampton Park events were J. Allan, M. R.

Woods, Wally Gray, J. Lang, David Lockhart, Mrs. R. Smith, P. McIsaac, Mrs. R. Miya and Mrs. M. Drane.

Orange—Half Wheels Take Rhino Anywhere

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The man who took the splash out of the kitchen sink yesterday unveiled a grotesque, five-ton vehicle that can roll like a half through a swamp.

The inventor, Elie P. Agnides, used the ball principle to move his mechanical monster through mud and sand. It can speed 45 miles an hour over highways, ford streams and churn out onto a lake.

Agnides calls it the Rhino. The new vehicle was given its first public test yesterday and Agnides called it the greatest advance in the wheel in a thousand years.

WEIRD WHEELS The Rhino's most novel feature is its spun-aluminum wheels, which look like halves of huge oranges. Set at slight angles to the massive chassis, they provide traction on uneven terrain, can climb a 65-per-cent grade and tip at an angle of 75 degrees without flipping over.

Rubber treads near the rim of the hemispherical wheels permit the 45-mile-an-hour highway speed, with only a 110-horsepower engine.

A hydrojet unit provides the power when the Rhino takes to deep water, but the present water speed is only five miles an hour.

Agnides is best known for his water-turret gadget which mixes air into a stream of water to eliminate splashing in the kitchen sinks.

Cyprus Offer 'Withdrawn'

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—A Greek delegation charged Thursday that Britain had withdrawn a First World War offer to return the Island of Cyprus to Greece and had not honored a Second World War pledge to discuss the question.

The six-man delegation representing the Greek national committee for the union of Cyprus with Greece was in Washington to acquaint government officials and the public with the Greek case against British retention of the island.

500 New Swimmers

ANOTHER school of instruction for young children in the art of swimming has been concluded at Elk Lake, with results which must be extremely gratifying to the parents as they are to The Daily Colonist, which initiated this summer activity last year. More than 500 boys and girls in the various age groups attended the classes, and almost all of them attained a satisfactory degree of proficiency.

The Colonist school for would-be swimmers provided healthy outdoor exercise during that period of the year when it is often difficult for parents to devise ways of keeping their offspring amused. A far more important result, however, is that several hundred youngsters now have been taught how to take care of themselves in deep water. The value of that is beyond computation in a place like this where lakes, rivers and saltwater bays beckon children into danger for anyone who does not know how to swim to safety, or at least keep afloat until rescuers can reach him.

The RCAF Flying Tour

ON Wednesday next, if present plans hold, Greater Victoria will be given an insight into Canada's development of military aviation when fighter pilots of the Royal Canadian Air Force will stage a display here, at the western end of a cross-country tour. Other Vancouver Island centres will have an equal privilege before the demonstration flights turn back again. At least two up-to-the-minute fighter plane types of machines will take part in the display, as well as training and other machines. For most Island centres this will be the first good look at modern Canada in the air.

There is, perhaps, a little preparation to come first. Patients in hospital and little children should be told about the air show in advance, so that the noise of the machines need not bother them. A jet fighter squadron, with its keel surfaces whistling high in nearly sonic speeds; an impressive sight, and also an awe-inspiring uproar in terms of decibels of sound. The precision and training of the men who fly Sabre Jets and Canuck Fighters in close formation and stunt in unison are not achieved in a day. Yet such manoeuvres are an essential part of a modern fighter wing. The present tour is a form of training for personnel, particularly in mobility and quick shifts.

One of the most air-minded of cities, Victoria has the additional interest in this occasion of knowing that not a few of its own young men have made their way to the top in the RCAF through ability and level-headed response to the training program. So while the machines may be new to our skies, the men will not; and for some few it will be a case of coming home to scenes of their childhood. Ever since Patricia Bay was established as a military flying station in the late conflict, the drone of a propeller has been a fairly constant and familiar echo in Island skies. It may be some time, however, before a rounded performance of jet-propelled aircraft will come this way again.

After their Victoria exhibition the RCAF units taking part in the display will proceed up-Island, completing their comprehensive Canadian tour.

Back of the air show and close to the stern realities of the times is the knowledge that ability to guard one's head in the air is fundamental today to national defense. Fortunately flying is an endeavor to which Canadians are taking with initiative and much natural aptitude, with results that are bearing fruit in many ways. The RCAF squadrons can be sure of a warm welcome on their present mission.

Freelance Fighters

MEN who volunteer to fight for pay in battles to which their countries are not parties have the status of mercenaries, in this age as in every other. There are always a few daring spirits to whom the love of adventure, rather than any ennoblement involved, is a very strong attraction. Yet complications follow such extra-territorial enlistment, especially for the country of origin. Canada is a signatory of the United Nations charter, pledged not to engage in aggression or provocation in any military form, and cannot therefore give recognition to any foreign legion arrangement no matter what the issue or cause.

Moreover, if a number of Canadians joined irregularly, say in the civil war in China, sufficient to become a leading participating force on either side could this country avoid the political consequences of such action in international relations? For these and other well-established reasons no nation officially can countenance the participation of irregulars in any conflict to which it is not a party. It follows that volunteers who go out to fight under such conditions go alone and without the backing of their own country in any form; indeed it must always be a little to the embarrassment of their native land.

The consequences are not confined to a strain in international relations by reason of extra-territorial interference in an undeclared conflict, but can also be felt directly at home. Freelance warriors killed or maimed in action leave no rights or benefits for their families or dependents in the country of their origin. If the personal contract under which they fought is honored that might not be crucial; but experience has often been that the adventure is not so bright in fact as it may have appeared in anticipation. Stakes made in such a manner are not too durable. However, mercenaries are mercenaries the world over, and no doubt such considerations will not stop them.

At the end of the Second World War Josef Stalin stated to his inner council, 'The Soviet Union can only live in peace when Communist government has been established in London and Washington.'

Let us not delude ourselves about any domestic preoccupation of the Kremlin mind," Sir William said. "Consider the Soviet attitude in East Germany, and the Communist aggression in Korea and in Indo-China."

At the end of the Second World War Josef Stalin stated to his inner council, 'The Soviet Union can only live in peace when Communist government has been established in London and Washington.'

Time-Saving Innovation

AT long last the rigmarole which customers in British Columbia's liquor stores have to go through is to be reduced to one simple transaction, beginning next month. In these days of "streamlined" merchandising procedures it has always seemed absurdly time and effort wasting to require the buyer of goods in a liquor store to place his order with one clerk, pay for it to another, and collect his purchase from a third. In busy periods such as at Christmas and New Year, when everyone is in a hurry, this has necessitated the formation of multiple queues which often overflow into the streets, and trebling of the time the transactions need take if handled in a business-like manner. Substitution of cash registers for the three-stage purchasing system will increase the efficiency of the government stores, simplify their records and accounts, and speed up purchases on which few customers care to linger.

Interpreting the News

The Reds Have Problems

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the chief obstacles faced by American Communist leaders in approaching legal tests of the new control laws will be the fact that those who participate will be "tagged" and will not be able to go underground with the rest of the party.

With enforcement of the vague laws depending so heavily on legal interpretation, there is even a possibility that both lawyers and witnesses for the party will lay themselves open to future prosecution.

Another great problem for the Reds is whether or not they will lose their second-class mailing privileges, and whether their chief propaganda publication, the New York Daily Worker, will be able to operate. They think it can.

There is no specific ban on written propaganda. But since the party is declared to have no legal standing, there is a question whether its representatives can make legal contracts or affidavits such as are required by the postal laws.

In the main, the Communists do not appear too upset. They have expected some such sort of restriction for several years, and long ago made standing plans for procedure even if they were all declared to be wanted criminals.

Some Communists even think they will get certain benefits. They think it will be easier for them to police their action cells and protect themselves against FBI surveillance. As the cells go underground, "planted" agents for the government will still be able to report to Washington, but it will be increasingly difficult for them to receive tips from the FBI or for the FBI to supervise them.

The clause making knowing participants in action cells liable to prosecution doesn't appear to add new teeth to the Smith Act. For a long time now the Reds have not openly stressed forcible overthrow of the government. Their chief objective is the organization of a new farmer-labor party, based on the argument that both farmers and laborers are exploited by business, and therefore have a mutual interest in seeking control of the government.

The new act says it applies to successors of the Communist party, but nobody knows how it might be enforced.

A Fact To Be Faced

Communism Admits No Compromise

By ROSCOE ALLARD, Executive Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

THE British Intelligence chief who correctly uncovered facts of Nazi war plans a year before Hitler's invasion of Poland, warns now that "the intelligence service of our Communist enemy today is far better than Hitler's—a highly developed Red fifth column that scarcely can be over-rated."

Sir William Stephenson, MC, DFC, who directed Britain's wartime security co-ordination in the Western Hemisphere, cited three examples of the "factual evidence that world-domination is the unchanging purpose of the Communist party."

Sir William's examples—he says "there are thousands"—came from the leadership of the Communist party itself.

"In 1907," Sir William said, "Lenin declared, 'Capitalism cannot live side by side with a victorious Soviet revolution.' The victorious Soviet revolution took place, and in 1920 Lenin warned, 'As long as capitalism and Communism remain side by side, we cannot live peacefully. The one or the other will be victor in the end.'"

"At the end of the Second World War Josef Stalin stated to his inner council, 'The Soviet Union can only live in peace when Communist government has been established in London and Washington.'

"Let us not delude ourselves about any domestic preoccupation of the Kremlin mind," Sir William said. "Consider the Soviet attitude in East Germany, and the Communist aggression in Korea and in Indo-China."

The primary fact to keep steadily before us is that the impelling aim of the Communist party will continue to be the establishment, by any means, of the Soviet type of government throughout the world.

"Some persons find Communism's stated aim incredible because they lack realization of the new world forces by which Communism was born and nourished. It is a common mistake to still think of our world in the pattern of nations that formed a relatively stable and peaceful world through the 100 years following the defeat of Bonaparte."

"The mantle of power is now a disputed garment. Persons who cling to that pattern of stable nations prior to the First World War are victims of self-delusion—and of the self-pity that often accompanies it."

"A tremendous new force broke loose with the break-up of the old Tsarist Russian Empire. The release of enormous energy funnelled into narrow channels of political and military ambition. An urge for expansion, pent up through the centuries, is seeking to justify and assert itself through the dogmas of Communist ideology that permits no rival and admits no compromise except as tactical and temporary expediency."

"In military terms, the Communist world has many strategic advantages. Its material resources, inferior at the moment to those of the Western world, are rapidly being developed. In Russia and satellite countries alone, not including China, more than 6,000,000 men are under arms in the Red army, navy and air forces. Tanks in service have been increased to more than 30,000.

"This large increase is undoubtedly due to the coming of atomic weapons. Tanks are a means of providing mobility and fire-power for rapid exploitation of atomic attack, and their armored protection gives comparative immunity against flash burn and radio activity."

"In air power, Soviet Russia has 20,000 aircraft in service. Of these, 100 per cent of the fighter craft and 70 per cent of the bombers are jet-propelled. In naval strength, Soviet Russia has a fleet of well over 350 submarines in operation, and Red surface naval forces are being expanded."

"The remote territories of Russian Central Asia have become the experimental and training ground of mechanical and scientific warfare, including the use of chemicals and bacteria in various forms. These are the facts which we should know and face up to."

"Another and as yet unmeasurable new force is the awakening of the whole Asiatic world, a world of more than 1,000,000,000 people, brought about by a variety of causes including the clashes and upheavals of two world wars. It is an awakening that calls for wide readjustments in the attitudes of our Western countries toward the people of the East, and for equally wide readjustments of relationships."

"The willingness of the West to come to these adjustments is complicated by the Communist efforts to bring the two great forces of Communism and Asia together. The Communist leaders of Soviet Russia, using slogans of anti-colonialism and anti-imperialism, are striving to capture the leadership and control of an awakened Asia. In China, they appear to have largely succeeded in their aim.

"We are indeed living in a world, and at a time, that cannot be measured by narrow patterns of the past, and we need enlightenment to help us face that reality. To be informed and to face reality constitutes our first line of defense."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

LOVE does not always come in pretty packages. In fact, according to a sort of Dr. Gallup among my newspaper colleagues who is always making surveys up side alleys, love does not often come in pretty packages.

Greatest love stories among the married couples he investigated were those of the homeliest men and the plainest women. The flops, muddles and messes amongst the married folk belong to the best looking men and the prettiest women.

In brief, the quality of the love life of the people he surveyed was in inverse ratio to their good looks.

This is surprising only because of popular fiction. In the fiction magazines, the hero is always big and handsome, the heroine small and beautiful. This may be due to the demands of the art editors of these, flashy publications. It would hardly sell a magazine if the art editors had to portray homely-looking characters like you and me. Imagine a Number One feature love story about a girl weighing 167 pounds and a boy five feet five weighing 189 pounds and wearing a size 6½ hat!

Yet all over creation this month, at the summer resorts, in canoes and dinghies, under the August moon, thousands of such people are afloat on love's fleecy pink clouds. And many of them will share a love story that out-features any magazine story and, what's more, will last for years and grow better as the years whirl by.

If two attractive looking people fall in love, there is a chance they have fallen for the package, as the salesmen say, not the contents. When two unattractive or not particularly attractive people fall in love, it must necessarily be the contents they were interested in, rather than the package.

Arts Centre and the Public

It is a truism to state that all cultural organizations such as symphony orchestras and art galleries have to be subsidized by someone. While their work is approved and their offerings patronized by a great many people, these people are apt to take them for granted; and are the first to deplore any curtailment of services.

Our Victoria Arts Centre is no exception. Last year roughly 30,000 people of Greater Victoria visited the gallery, and quite a lot of them paid the nominal admission charge. Our charges for admission, rent of rooms to other organizations, fees for classes and so on are kept at a very modest level in order that no member of the public is prevented from using the facilities of the centre. Income from this source does not begin to cover expenses.

A large part of the grant which the Arts Centre requested the city to make represents unpaid taxes. When the Arts Centre, through the generosity of Miss Sara Spencer, was installed in its present home, an arrange was worked out with the then city council under which the City of Victoria would take over and maintain the building and grounds which the Arts Centre would use and operate as an art gallery. Legal difficulties, however, were discovered, and this scheme came to nothing. In the result we are faced not only with the expense of maintaining a large plant but with an enormous tax bill as well.

It is rather a lot to expect these burdens to be carried by a devoted few, who through donations and voluntary work have tided the gallery over the never-ending bad times. A municipal grant to an organization which has become a necessity in our city would mean little to the taxpayer. For simplicity's sake, let us reduce our request to the round figure of $3,000 and the population of Victoria let us call 50,000. (These arbitrary reductions are not far off the true figures.) A simple calculation gives us the figure of 16 cents per person for this year; and once the accumulation of taxes and past deficits is paid off, our operating loss would be reduced to something like six or seven cents per person per year; surely not an intolerable burden on the taxpayer.

We hope eventually to expand our buildings so as to provide fireproof accommodation for valuable exhibitions. As things stand now, exhibitions of old masters and other irreplaceable works of art are denied to Victoria for lack of a safe place to show them. If the Victoria Arts Centre is to continue to grow and maintain its widely used facilities, assistance from the community at large is essential.

Victoria, alone among Canadian cities with art galleries, contributes nothing to the support of its arts centre. Apart from any other consideration, this attitude appears strange in a capital city which prides itself on its amenities: an attitude which I am sure does not reflect the feelings of its inhabitants.

M. L. TYRWHITT-DRAKE,
President, Arts Centre of Greater Victoria.

Proud Victoria

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

IT WILL be comforting news to at least one Winnipeg history teacher that his pupils aren't the only ones who think Vancouver is the capital of British Columbia. The teacher was marking history examinations and found several rather deplorable mistakes, but the one he resented the most was this humiliating demotion for the sedate little city of Victoria with its chequered legislative lawn rising from the very wharf itself.

But as Trans-Canada Air Lines, and an American railroad too, recently made this mistake in publicity folders, perhaps there is some excuse for Winnipeg students.

There is consolation for Victoria, too. Many students refused to be lured into naming Vancouver as the capital; they just left the question unanswered.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

It seems generally agreed that mankind could blunder into another war only through incredible stupidity, but we'd feel safer if war were something it took brains to start.

A worried looking man walked into a florist's shop and asked for three geraniums.

"I'm sorry," said the clerk. "We're out of geraniums just now, but we have some nice potted chrysanthemums."

"No, they won't do," replied the man. "I promised my wife I'd water her geraniums while she was away."

WEATHER PROPHECY

A man motoring through a rural village stopped at a country store for cigarettes. On the wall was a sign: 'This store will be closed August 23 on account of the weather.' As it was only August 15 the man asked the proprietor how he could know what the weather would be so far in advance.

Proprietor—"Well, if she rains light, I'm going fishing. If she rains heavy, I'm going to stay home and work on my tackle."

Man—"But how do you know it's going to rain?"

Proprietor—"Don't care if it rains or not. If it's sunny I'll go fishing or work on my tackle anyway. All depends on the weather."

With the Classics

(From "Old Age")

The seas are quiet when the winds give over;
So calm are we when passions are no more.

For then we know how vain it was to boast

Of fleeting things, so certain to be lost.

Clouds of affection from our younger eyes

Conceal that emptiness which age describes.

The soul's dark cottage, battered and decay'd

Lets in new light through chinks that Time hath made:

Stronger by weakness, wiser men become

As they draw near to their eternal home.

Salute Welcomes Mayhews Home From Japan Duty

A thunderous welcome was roared out by guns at Work Point Barracks yesterday for one of Victoria's most distinguished citizens.

The 19-gun salute was fired by army gunners as the frigate New Glasgow, carrying Hon. Robert W. Mayhew, retiring Canadian ambassador to Japan, neared Esquimalt Harbor inbound from and the Chinese Nationalist Government.

Waiting for the ship to tie up at HMC Dockyard was a crowd of some 100 government and civic dignitaries, relatives and friends of His Excellency.

New Glasgow steamed proudly into harbor at 4.45 p.m. with her sister ship HMCS Stettler immediately astern. The ships steered a wide circle around the harbor and then slid in gracefully to the dock.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew stood smiling and waving on the deck of the New Glasgow as morning lines were made fast. GREETED BY SUCCESSOR

Dr. Frank Fairley, who succeeded Mr. Mayhew as Victoria's representative in parliament last year, boarded ship with Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, to extend the first official welcome.

Before the official party was piped ashore, Mr. Mayhew paused briefly to thank Cmdr. G. A. LaRue, captain of the New Glasgow, for courtesies extended on the trip from Seattle.

First to greet the ambassador on the dock was acting mayor Frank Mulliner, who said he wished to welcome home "our illustrious son" on behalf of city council and the citizens of Victoria. Greetings from the citizens of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich were extended by Reeve Fred Norris, Reeve A. C. Wurtele and acting reeve George Austin.

MANY FRIENDS

Among the large group of friends on hand to welcome the retiring ambassador were former premier Byron Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Senator Nancy Hodges, W. T. Straith, former education minister, and Oak Bay Cdr. J. V. Johnson.

Col. W. J. Mosedale, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's), and Col. J. R. Kingham shook hands with Mr. Mayhew and informed him he has been appointed honorary colonel of the famed regiment.

Clad in a blue business suit and black homburg, Mr. Mayhew seemed overwhelmed by the warmth of the welcome.

He told reporters that the extent of the welcome was "quite unexpected."

REDS ON WADE

Mr. Mayhew said he believes Communism's influence in Japan is "on the wane" while that of democracy is steadily strengthening.

Asked if the Japanese are disturbed over the possibility of armed conflict breaking out between the Chinese Communists charged that the law is "clearly a bill of attainder—that is, a legislative decree making a 'finding of guilt' without evidence or due process."

"The law is based on the Hitlerite big lie that the Communist party teaches and advocates the violent overthrow of the United States government," the statement said.

"This is completely false. The Communist party in its 35 years of existence has never advocated, nor does it advocate today, the overthrow of the government by force and violence . . . the Communist party advocates a peaceful path to socialism in the United States."

The six-page statement said the Communist party challenged "the right of congress to ban any political ideas or movement," and would "carry this fight to the courts and to the people."

No Demand in B.C. for Frogs' Legs? Those People Forgot Victoria Again

BY BRUCE LOWTHER

Victoria, leading Vancouver in weather, pretty girls and Olde English atmosphere, is ahead in still another category—demand for that French delicacy, frogs' legs.

This astounding discovery (everyone presumed Victorians lived on crumpets and tea) was made yesterday after a Vancouver dispatch stated there was no demand in British Columbia for frogs' legs.

Hotel and restaurant officials in Victoria, led by T. A. Chester and George Zanichelli of the Empress Hotel, issued a heated denial of this statement.

Pierre Laracine, Hotel Vancouver chef, said, "No one has ordered frogs' legs for months, and it's a shame—they're a great delicacy."

The local gourmets demurred, pointing out fresh frogs' legs—the real thing can be obtained about

May from frog farms in such places as Minneapolis and Montreal.

They added, "People eating frogs' legs now are getting them out of cans. We have a sizeable demand for them all year long, but we sell them only when fresh."

It seems that it takes about seven years before a frog reaches the "eating" stage, which means considerable overhead to farmers, so enterprising epicures import their supplies at a cost of $2 a pound, in the proper season.

Quick-Thinking Landlady Rouses 14 As Vancouver Apartment Block Burns

VANCOUVER—Fourteen persons fled in night attire from a downtown apartment building early yesterday when a quick-thinking landlady hustled them out of the flaming building.

The fire broke out at about 4.30 a.m. in the Canterbury Coffee Shop on West Pender, Mrs. Mary Maxim, manageress of the building, roused the tenants and all escaped.

The flames quickly spread to the second-floor suites, but firemen rescued five of the tenants by throwing ladders up to the windows. One of the three fire exits was enveloped in flames.

Mrs. Maxim battered locks off the doors of some of the rooms to save the tenants, and then ran across the street to telephone the fire department.

Crown Seeks Charge Raise

NANAIMO—Norman Malcolm Martin appeared before Judge L. A. Hanna in County Court here Thursday on a charge of dangerous driving. The hearing was adjourned for a week on an application to have an

The manslaughter charge was reduced at a police court preliminary hearing in May before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

The charge arises from an accident near Lantzville last April when the car driven by Martin ran off the road. Doreen Lintick, 18, a passenger in the car, was killed.

NANAIMO—Sam Evans, 22, book tender at the government assembly wharf, was saved from serious injury Thursday by his safety helmet.

Three pieces of lumber fell from an 18-foot pile. Two pieces fell on his head and the third glanced off his shoulder, dislocating it.

He was taken to Nanaimo Hospital by Island Ambulance Thursday afternoon, and his condition is described as satisfactory.

Evans is employed by Johnston Storage Co.

Kiernan To Open Comox Fair

COURTENAY—Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will officially open the Comox Valley Fall Fair here September 20. Mr. Kiernan will also plant trees at the courthouse, the first of a number to be incorporated in the landscaping plan.

The courthouse, exterior painting of which is now up for tender, was opened in April, 1952, but the lawns were planted and the flagpole erected only this spring. The fall fair, which has been held here for more than 60 years, will include agriculture displays, loggers' sports, a midway and a softball tournament.

The official opening which will be attended by local dignitaries will see Terry Tobacco, local B.E.G. runner, receive a presentation as a mark of appreciation for his efforts in the games.

PORT ALBERNI—Seven local Boy Scouts will be among those at the first provincial Rover Moot to be held at Camp Barnard, near Sooke. Leader Norman Trim will accompany Rod McGillivray, George McKee, Ted Cox, Bill Ansley, Allan Lockhart, Jim Omand and Gordon Blake to the gathering for Rover Scouts September 4 to 6. G. G. Purkis, executive commissioner for training at Ottawa, will attend the moot. He is also scheduled to visit Alberni Valley September 9.

Trustee May Quit over Ferry Lack

COURTENAY—School Denman Island may resign unless special ferries can Island and Denman Island.

Mr. Isbister, commenting that since the B.C. government took over the ferry run no special trips are possible, declared that he was often compelled to spend the night in Courtenay after a meeting and could not get back to his Denman Island farm until the next morning. The board agreed to seek a special ferry from the public works department, and the department of education will also be advised of the situation.

LADYSMITH—City council has unanimously endorsed a plan proposed by works chairman Ald. P. R. Battle to convert Market Square grounds into a playing field for the children.

"There's a big cry for a little ball field in the city," said Alderman Battle. "The Little League baseball teams had put on quite a demonstration to show off their new uniforms," he said. "We on council should try to have a playground for them."

He pointed out, however, it would require a lot of fill to put the grounds in good shape.

DUNCAN—To raise funds for the support of the Chemainus Community Centre, of which he is sports director, 22-year-old Alan Goldie will swim from Active Point on Kuper Island to Chemainus Beach, a distance of 3½ miles.

The swim will start Saturday at 10 a.m. taking advantage of the ebb tide from the island.

To the person predicting the exact time, or closest to it, that Alan is in the water will go a cash prize. There will also be other prizes for close guesses.

Born in Port Alberni, Mr. Goldie took physical education courses at UBC, and only this year received an instructor's diploma for swimming from a special instruction school at Courtenay. Previously he had held an instructor's certificate from Victoria, where he lived five years ago.

Two Prizes Offered VLA Lands

ALBERNI—The Alberni Fall Fair Association has announced it will again offer two prizes for the best-developed Veterans' Land Act holding in the Alberni district at the fair September 9 to 11.

Contestants are advised that formal applications are not required, since all VLA small holders are automatically eligible. Scoring will be on the basis of landscaping, beautification and agricultural development of the properties.

The association carried out the annual small holding development competition when the VLA discontinued the event on a nation-wide basis five years ago.

Final judging will be done by G. L. Chatterton, regional VLA supervisor; H. W. Lawrence, local VLA field man, and E. F. Duncan of Alberni, September 7, and official announcement of the winners and awarding of prizes at the official opening of the fair.

The fair, revived six years ago, is expected to break all records for number of entries this year.

Rock Cairn Marks Grave On Mountain

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—A rock cairn high up on wind-swept Mount Fox in the Selkirk Range of British Columbia marks the burial spot of a young American climber killed in an avalanche last week.

The body of Edward C. Stabler, 21-year-old Harvard University student from Syosset, N.Y., was buried at the 6,000-foot level of the mountain when a rescue party found it impossible to bring out the remains.

The young climber died August 18 while climbing with two companions, James Newell of Boston and Bruce Gerhard of Jersey City, N.J. Stabler was carried away by the rockslide as the trio descended from the 10,000-foot level. His two companions were able to dive to safety behind a cliff.

Island Man's Father Dies

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Samuel M. Whittaker, 53, of Vancouver, here on his holidays, died in hospital Thursday.

Mr. Whittaker was employed by Canadian Pacific Telegraphs in Vancouver and had been with the company in various parts of the province since 1918. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Jack of Port Alberni, one daughter, Carol, at home, a brother, Stanley of Riondel and a sister, Mrs. D. Philpot of Nelson.

Californian Derby Winner

QUALICUM BEACH—Winner of the weekly salmon derby prize, a trolling rod, was M. K. Stewart of Los Angeles, who weighed in a 19-pound eight-ounce spring.

Second prize, a reel, went to Willet Shelly, Parksville, whose fish weighed 18 pounds, 12½ ounces.

Hidden-weight prize was won by Mrs. O. Cheney of Los Angeles.

The derby is sponsored by the Qualicum District Fish and Game Association.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Police blame accidents and faulty wiring for the rash of false bank holdup alarms which have plagued them since the $10,000 robbery at a Vancouver branch of the Royal Bank of Canada August 18. Two such alarms brought police on the run yesterday.

Anglers Eagerly Waiting

PARKSVILLE—Sports fishermen are eagerly looking forward to Sunday's salmon derby to be staged jointly by French Creek Boat Owners' Association and Parksville Fish and Game Association.

A handsome rod and reel as first prize and other prizes will total $100 in value. There will be a special ladies' prize, a hidden prize and some for boys and girls under 14.

The derby will start at dawn and fish must be weighed in by 9 p.m. Official weighing-in station is French Creek's Fishing Camp.

For those who do not fish an armchair derby will be conducted on the weight of the winning fish in the derby.

Tickets may be obtained from members and at French Creek Fishing Camp.

Proceeds will go towards improvements at French Creek boat basin.

Amateur Entertainment To Highlight Forthcoming Alberni District Fair

PORT ALBERNI—An amateur entertainers' contest and special produce competition for the various districts in the Alberni Valley will be among the "first time" features of the ninth annual Alberni District Fair, under auspices of Port Alberni Kinsmen Club, September 9 to 11.

Plans were approved by the fair board at a recent meeting for co-operating with Courtenay and Nanaimo board

Space allowed for each exhibitor will be eight feet by eight feet, with no limit on height, and displays will consist of 12 distinct varieties of vegetables; five plates of potatoes, distinct varieties; four varieties of apples, two plates of each; two varieties of pears, two plates of each; two varieties of other fruits or nuts; four varieties of fruit preserves, two jars of each; two varieties of vegetables, two jars of each; one dozen brown eggs.

Points will be awarded on a basis of 150 for quality, 25 for variety, 50 for arrangement and 25 for correct naming. Entries so far have come in from Mc Coy Lake, Beaver Creek and Cherry Creek.

Local winner will go to Nanaimo to compete with Courtenay and Nanaimo contestants for a $100 prize.

The Alberni Valley contest will be staged in the army drill hall under direction of Ken Hutcheson. It is planned to have the show broadcast direct from the stage. A $5 prize will go to the winners on Thursday and Friday nights, with $15 for the finalist Saturday night.

There will be three classifications in the contest: juvenile (under 15 years), western and open.

Finals in Nanaimo will take place September 16, 17 and 18. DISTRICT EXHIBITS

There will be an opportunity for the different areas in the Alberni to prove leadership as district exhibits are introduced for the first time.

Royal Canadian Shows will provide midway attractions for the fair.

On opening night G. L. Chatterton, VLA regional supervisor, will present prizes for outstanding improvement during the year on VLA small holdings.

St. Laurent Curiosity Aids Some Visitors

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent is interested in and curious about people, and thereby hang a number of untold tales about visitors who get in to see this busy man.

The job of running the Canadian government has grown so complex that prime ministers of recent years have little time for receiving casual visitors.

But there is a steady demand about 15 requests a week on an average from people who want an audience with the prime minister. Only about three or four are granted each week.

Pierre Asselin, 43-year-old private secretary to Mr. St. Laurent, knows some good stories about those who leap the barrier only because they are interested in people. But he won't talk about these stories. It is Mr. Asselin's job to keep down the number of audiences in a tactful way.

When the applicant is a plain curiosity-seeker, a crank or some slick operator with an idea to sell, the turn-down is not so difficult.

Not unless it happens, as it has on occasions, that the prime minister chances to walk into the anteroom at the moment of discussion.

Then occurs one of those incidents which Mr. Asselin does not like to discuss. The important visitor is sometimes greeted by the easy-going prime minister and invited in for a chat.

Recently a United States tourist got in to see Mr. Asselin and told him, frankly, that he would like to have the honor of meeting the prime minister.

It was not one of those hard-pressure days and Mr. Asselin arranged a meeting. A few minutes later the tourist left, beaming.

"Wait until I tell the folks back home about this—they'll never believe it," he exclaimed.

Wrong-Way Ocean Flier Finally Reaches Paris

PARIS (CP) — Tom Danaher, who defied Canadian officials at the end of his week-end flight, and delayed two hours across the Atlantic from New York by a wrangle with London customs officials yesterday, Danaher finally reached his destination.

Bell Columnist, Victoria, B.C. Friday, August 27, 1954 7

The Texan said he plans to tour Europe, starting with a flight to Rome Friday or Saturday, then head for home by way of Iceland and Greenland.

Officials in London flagged Danaher down as he revved up for the Channel crossing and kept him busy for two hours signing forms and paying £19s fee for parking and landing at Northolt Airport.

SARATOGA—It was an accident of address that made Hedley Woodhouse a jockey. The family moved into a house on the west side of Vancouver in British Columbia. There was a riding academy across the alley and Woodhouse became friendly with the owner's sons. They allowed him to jog a pony in an empty lot.

"I never saw anything but a milk horse before that," explained Woodhouse, who is this meeting's leading rider. "It took me a little while to catch on. Maybe once a month I'd ride the pony. Then I got a job at Brighouse, which was the best of all. I sold sandwiches and ran errands. Then I got to walking hots. I was 17 and weighed about 80 lbs. I'm 102 now. I eat and drink anything I want."

It is the theory of race-trackers that Woodhouse won more races than any other rider during the season in New York last year because he learned how to wait with a horse.

"Stock will make you wait," explained Woodhouse, who rode 138 winners at the New York plants in 1953. "If you got a good horse under you, you can wait. Take Fisherman. In the Travers all I did was sit and wait and steer him clear. I could have gone on the lead, for instance, with him in the Travers, but he loads on the lead. He starts looking and gawking and you got to shake him up."

The horse Woodhouse enjoyed riding was Three Rings. "He had so much early foot," he said, "he wouldn't open up when a horse came to him. The two years he was so good - he just egged them on. They'd come to him and he'd ease off them. Turn him loose and he'd run for you. They'd get by him and he'd still come on."

Of course, Slymie was the best he ever handled. "He was easy to ride," the jockey said. "He did his own running. I won the Gray Lag Handicap on him and never had to hit him. He had more brains than we have."

There have been a lot of races since Woodhouse packed his tack and left Vancouver, but he doubts if his trade will ever give him a bigger slam than taking the Hollywood Gold Cup on Happy Issue in 1944.

"She was dead last heading for home," he remembered. "The whole field suddenly fanned out. I think the horse was Stronghold, the one that did it. He got punch-drunk... wobbling... and opened up the whole field. I wouldn't have been 14th if he hadn't fanned out the whole field. There was just enough room on the rail for me. Dead last, and I won it."

The jockey believes in racing luck. It is not being superstitious, but a realization that most races aren't truly run. "You're dead—you're cooked," he said. "You pray for something to turn up. Well it turned up for me in the Cup. It evened up for you. Racing luck is getting away good, a hole opening up, using a little common sense, but it evened out."

It turned bad for Woodhouse in the Butler Handicap in 1950. "I guess that was the worst luck I ever had," the jockey said. "I rode Three Rings. He lugged out. He never did it before or after that. I was the winner, but they put up Loser Weeper. I got sat down for 10 days. That's the first and only time I've ever been suspended in my life."

"Why," I asked, "did Three Rings lug?" "I didn't find out at the time," he said. "One of his wolf teeth, the bit jammed it. It must have been that. He never acted like that in his life."

It is a tradition of race track fiction that a horse loves the rider. Of course, there is always a villainous jockey who is loathed by an animal.

"I've never had a horse really attached to me," he said, "but I've been fond of a couple. Sometimes if a boy gets belling a horse around, he'll remember him. I've seen that."

Short-priced horses trouble most jockeys. "It doesn't bother me," he said. "It makes me think, being on a 25. I think, is he going to run to his price? It gets you keyed up, being on a big favorite."

Most jockeys who came up after Eddie Arcaro model their seats after him and Woodhouse is no exception. "I tried to ride like Eddie," he said, "but my legs aren't long enough. Any long-legged boy looks better on a horse than a short-legged boy. My legs aren't long enough." We were sitting on a green-painted wooden bench in the wire-fenced paved yard of the jockey's cottage. It was time for the next race. He got up to weigh in. "It's the stock," he said. "No jock is going to beat Native Dancer. It's got to be a horse."

Speedway Fans To See Return of Big-Car Racing

Big-car racing returns to Western Speedway, Milstream Road, Saturday night in a meet which will feature the appearance of three Washington drivers and the racing debut of a Victoria machine.

Bud Green of Seattle, one of the top wheel jockeys at the old Langford Speedway, is scheduled to drive a Mercury V-8 and Cliff Spaulding, also of Seattle, will pilot Les Walchen's Offenhausen, which has recently undergone an extensive overhaul.

Duncan Beaten By Individuals

Victoria Individuals pounded out 11 hits at Duncan Wednesday night to down Duncan, 9-1. In the opening game of a best-of-three series for the Vancouver Island senior "B" women's softball championship.

The series will continue at 2 p.m. Sunday on the lower Central Park diamond with the third game, if necessary, to follow at 4 p.m. Winner of the Island crown will advance to the British Columbia championship tournament at Kelowna over the Labor Day week end.

Ruth Oster yielded only three hits as she pitched Individuals to their triumph Wednesday, while Florence Pickering connected for three hits in four plate appearances to pace the Victoria attack.

Bright Bounced

Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Fri., Aug. 27, 1954

JOHNNY BRIGHT

In a surprise move Johnny Bright, halfback with Calgary Stampede of the Western Interprovincial Football Union for the past three years, has been chopped from the roster as the club cut down to the 10 American imports allowed by the Canadian Rugby Union rules. Bright, who might possibly line up with either Edmonton or Vancouver, was a tower of strength his first year but has been hampered by injuries since then. He appeared to be regaining top form this season.

Race Meeting Canceled For Two Days

VANCOUVER (CP) The Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association Thursday voted almost unanimously to call off racing at Exhibition Park Friday and Saturday because of what they termed increasingly treacherous track conditions.

Almost continual rain the last five days has transformed the five-eighths of a mile oval into a sea of deep mud.

The move came as a surprise to officials of the Asot Jockey Club since horsemen only Wednesday had indicated they would continue running their stock regardless of the condition of the track.

Bobby Randall, spokesman for the jockey club, said the track would not pick up the two lost days after the official closing date, September 20.

Vessels To Play With Dutchmen

TORONTO (CP) — Billy Vessels, voted the outstanding football player in Canada last year while with the Edmonton Eskimos, will be in a Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchman uniform Saturday night, Spike Kearns, Dutchman president, said yesterday.

Palmer in Semis After Double Win

DETROIT (AP) — Arnold Palmer, a purposeful young Pennsylvanian born to the fair way tradition, eliminated two of amateur golf's brightest sons Thursday to go into the semi-finals of the 54th United States amateur championship with a New England dentist, a banker and an Ohio plugger making his 13th try for the title.

Answering the contest with Palmer, 24-year-old son of a LaPorte, Pa., professional, were Dr. Ted Lenzyk of Newington, Conn. who has been playing in the shadow of a famous sister, Grace; Bob Sweeney, 33-year-old investment banker who won the British amateur in 1937, and Edward Meister, 36-year-old magazine publisher from Wiloughby, O.

They came through a double round of eliminations over the 6,875-yard rolling Country Club of Detroit course while the last of the big-name competitors—Frank Stranahan, Bill Campbell, Don Cherry and D. Le Morey—were sent to the side lines.

In Friday's 36-hole semi-finals, Palmer plays Meister and Sweeney goes against Lenzyk. Palmer took care of two of the prime favorites, defeating Stranahan 3 and 1 in the morning and following with a comeback 1-up triumph over Cherry, an American Cup member who won the Canadian crown in 1953.

Ulrich Shoots Hot Six Under Par To Sweep into Lead in Open

TORONTO (CP)—Wally Ulrich, 30-year-old Rochester, N.Y., pro, swept into the lead Thursday at the halfway mark of the 72-hole $26,500 Open golf championship.

The well-built popular shotsmith slobbered the par-71 Scarboro layout for a six-under-par 65 to match his opening-day round for 130 and take over the lead from lanky Dave Douglas of Grossingers' N.Y. first day leader with a 65. Douglas slipped to 69 in his second 18 for a 132 total and third place.

Others in the lead included Sam Sneed of Greenbrier, W. Va., who has won more than 70 tournaments and $268,000 since 1937, stayed in the running with 135. He fired a 68 to add to his 67 first round. Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., considered one of the threats after his opening-round 64, hallooed to a one-over-par 70 for 136 in a tie with four others.

Empress Bar
May Be Open
By Saturday

T. E. Chester, manager of the Empress Hotel, said yesterday the new cocktail lounge overlooking the hotel gardens "might be open by Saturday."

He made the announcement following the granting of a lounge license to the hotel by the Liquor Control Board.

Work on the sumptuous bar, known as the Coronet Room, is said to have cost $85,000. The lounge is finished in a red-and-blue motif, with coronets emblazoned on arched blue carpet and over the entrance. It will accommodate between 165 and 175 patrons.

A stained glass window which will be dedicated in Christ Church Cathedral by the Archbishop of Canterbury September 12, will be placed in position in a few days.

But the public will not be allowed to view the window until the unveiling ceremony, which will occur as the archbishop dedicates the new northwest tower of the church.

The tower is a memorial to the former Bishop of London, the late Rt. Rev. Arthur Winnington-Ingram, and the window bears a portrait of Bishop Winnington-Ingram against a background of the skyline of London.

Boys Hurt in Traffic Mishaps

Wayne Speller, 12, of 3839 Saanich Road, and William Davidson, four, of 3152 Quadra Street, were injured in noon-hour traffic accidents yesterday.

The Speller boy was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from chin injuries. He was riding his bicycle in the 900 block Fairmount when he struck a slow-moving truck, and was thrown into a fender. Driver of the truck was Bernard G. Macham, 14 Conrad.

The four-year-old was released from St. Joseph's after a check. He was shaken up as he ran from in front of a parked car into the side of an automobile driven by W. J. Brinkman, 1231 Palmer.

Earlier in the day Harvey Leggett, 74, of the Westholme Hotel, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for head abrasions and a bruised right elbow.

He was knocked down as he crossed a lane at the rear of his residence by a car backing down the lane. Driver of the car was William D. Hope, 1218 Sunnydale, police said.

A native of Victoria will be among a large group of youths arriving in the city from Eastern Canada September 12 to enroll at HMC's Venture, the new officer-cadet training school in Esquimalt.

He is Ronald Richards, 18, son of Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. R. D. Richards of Ottawa and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Richards, Latoria Road, Happy Valley.

Lieut.-Cmdr. Richards was with the medical branch when he was at HMC's Naden some years ago, and is now attached to naval headquarters in Ottawa.

Summer Swimmers Win Certificates

Among proud recipients of The Daily Colonist learn-to-swim proficiency certificates as the eight-week summer course ended yesterday were, from left, Gail Smith, 13; Dianne Davis, 12, and Judith Whittle, 11, shyly accepting their certificates from Seth Halton, publisher of the Colonist.

Sisters Margaret and Joan Henze, 1631 Pinewood, reminisce with Mrs. Marjorie Naysmith, Colonist learn-to-swim class instructor, about the fun they have enjoyed in the eight-week series of classes that began early in July. The girls learned to swim last summer in Colonist classes, enrolled again this summer to have more fun.

Brand New Swimmers, Parents
Attest Success of Classes

"Truly remarkable"

That's the way a Sidney woman summed up the progress made by youngsters enrolled in the Colonist's free learn-to-swim classes during the past eight weeks.

Last of the 510 youngsters taking the classes were presented with proficiency certificates yesterday at Elk Lake's Happyland Beach as they completed final tests under the watchful eye of Mrs. Marjorie Naysmith, swim class instructor.

Mrs. Phyllis Orchard, of Sidney, has been watching the youngsters develop their "water wings" regularly each week since the classes began in July. Her 11-year-old daughter, Rolinda, has been taking the classes.

"It's been truly remarkable to watch," said Mrs. Orchard yesterday. "Three-quarters of the children in the classes couldn't swim when they started in July. Many cried when they went in the water. Now most of the children swim."

Mrs. Orchard is particularly pleased with the progress of her own daughter.

Rolinda couldn't swim a stroke when she started and now she can swim 30 feet, enough to receive one of the top certificates awarded the young Colonist swimmers.

Mrs. Orchard said she hopes the Colonist will continue the classes next year. She has two young boys anxious to learn to swim.

Another proud parent on hand yesterday as proficiency certificates were handed out was Mrs. Margaret Rosman, R.R. 1, Saanichton. Her daughters, Janet, 10, and Jacquelyn, 11, passed their tests with flying colors.

"They didn't want to go away from me so they wouldn't have to miss any of the lessons," said Mrs. Rosman.

For Mrs. Naysmith, the success of this year's learn-to-swim program has been very gratifying because all her pupils tried so hard.

Interest ran high among the youngsters this summer and last, she said, but attendance and interest was "simply marvelous" this year.

DREAMS REALIZED
A total of 510 children took the free Colonist instruction this year, and 481 of the young hopefuls realized their dreams and learned to swim.

Only one child out of the whole lot didn't learn to enjoy the water.

Boys taking the classes outnumbered girls 265 to 216.

Last year 402 youngsters took the classes and only 31 failed to make the grade. There were 220 boys and 182 girls in last year's classes.

One class of girls confronted Mrs. Naysmith with a special challenge this year. Not a single one of the 25 girls in the class for 11-year-olds could swim when they started and most were afraid of the water.

The girls were the last of the young swimmers to take their tests yesterday and every one was able to swim in some fashion. Two of the girls profited so well by their instruction that they were able to swim 40 feet.

Joan Gault, 2534 Scott, one of the "long-distance swimmers" was thrilled by her feat.

"These classes sure have done a lot for me," she said. "I didn't think I'd be able to learn when I started."

POLISH UP
Like the other girls in her class, Joan has grown very fond of Mrs. Naysmith.

"She sure is nice," she said. "Many children voiced the hope that the Colonist would have free swimming classes next year so they will have a chance to improve their style."

Margaret and Joan Henze have done. The girls, respectively aged 12 and 11, took the classes last year and learned to swim. They enrolled again this year to "sort of polish up."

"We are very, very pleased," she said. "And it all came from the good citizens of Victoria."

Total for the three days was 890 pupils—or 110 pupils less than the target, "which we never expected to get."

Natural Gas Pipeline
Just 'Matter of Time'

"You will get natural gas piped to British Columbia. It is only a matter of time."

The confident prediction was voiced by an oil expert, Nathan E. Tanner, president of Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd., in a radio interview last night over CJVI with Harry Young, business editor of The Daily Colonist.

Mr. Tanner, former minister of lands and forests in the Alberta government and the man who formulated the successful oil legislation in that province, was visiting Victoria with 85 other members of the Calgary Chamber of Commerce.

The refusal of the U.S. Federal Power Commission to give Westcoast Transmission a permit to export natural gas to the Pacific Northwest was merely a temporary setback, said Mr. Tanner.

HAPPY TO BUY
"When the pipeline is built to the B.C. coast there will be people on the other side of the international border only too happy to buy that natural gas from you," he declared.

In the B.C. part of the Peace River area, Mr. Tanner said that ample reserves had been built up already to justify the building of a pipeline to the coast.

"You will get it, all right," he maintained.

Asked if he thought Vancouver Island might be included in the service area for natural gas, Mr. Tanner pointed out that it would all be a matter of economics.

"If the pipeline under the gulf is not too expensive and natural gas could be sold at a price that would be attractive on Vancouver Island, it would be a reasonable proposition," he declared.

LONGEST PIPELINE
Referring to the natural gas pipeline to the East, the former minister, who is president of the company which built it, said it would be the largest and longest natural gas pipeline in the world.

It would be 2,200 miles long and would eventually serve points as far east as Montreal, and would also be diverted by spur line to various markets in the United States.

The natural gas would be flowing as far as Winnipeg by next fall, and to Toronto and perhaps Montreal by the end of 1956.

Mr. Tanner said that so far no details of the financing of the $300,000,000-plus pipeline were available, but that investment houses in the East had assured him that the proposition was justified and that the money would be forthcoming.

He also said that the public would be given an opportunity to subscribe to the undertaking.

"We want as many people as we can get to share in the enterprise," he said.

'CHALLENGE OURS'
Mr. Tanner earlier addressed the Rotary luncheon in the Empress Hotel at which the Calgary Chamber tourists were seen great progress in that the guests of the Victoria tour.

Mr. Tanner said that at the turn of the century it had taken his father and mother six weeks to travel from Utah to what is now Alberta. "That journey can now be made in a jet plane in an hour and a half."

Natural resources had played a big part in the growth of Alberta, and it was chiefly due to them that today the province had more than sufficient money in the provincial treasury to pay off the entire funded debt.

"That should mean lower taxes for the future, and greater incentive to industry," he declared.

Alberta was about to celebrate its golden jubilee and it had declared.

"There is no other part of the world which offers greater opportunity or freedom," he said. "The challenge is ours to keep it that way. We have a great heritage to preserve."

Alberta was about to celebrate its golden jubilee and it had declared.

Phone Network
Grows Rapidly

An $850,000 telephone expansion program, including placing of overhead and underground cables containing 30,000,000 feet of wire, is under way in Victoria.

C. W. Halford, B. C. Telephone Company commercial manager here, said the program will provide additional service for fast-growing areas, including Richmond Road, Willows Park, Fairfield adjacent to Cook Street, Cook Street north of Pandora, Harrison Street, Hillside Avenue and Lansdowne Road.

Work is almost finished, at an estimated cost of $30,000, to an addition to the company office building at Blanshard and Johnson to house new equipment.

The additional automatic equipment, costing $668,000, will go into service next year. Victoria now has 35,728 telephones, an increase of about 12,000 since the end of the Second World War.

Tom Denny and Geoff Ellis of Victoria.

P. J. Rogk, 77-year-old cattle rancher from Drumheller and the oldest of the visitors, led the fishermen with a four-foot dogfish, which was later unveiled in a stirring ceremony at the final dinner.

He also caught a small salmon and lost another.

More than 25 golfers, led by Bill Gilmour of Victoria, played anywhere from nine to 18 holes in a loosely-played competition.

Mr. Wheaton and Gordon Love, president of the Calgary Golf and Country Club, won their match.

The Homelowners and Billy Tickle's orchestra entertained at a colorful reception, dinner and ball, where Betty Dolman, Miss Victoria, and Mrs. Jean Johnson (former Daffodil Queen Jean, Spalding) were guests.

PAINTING PRESENTED
J. Howard Kelly, QC, Calgary chamber president, presented Mr. Wheaton and the Victoria chamber with a painting called "Mountain Scene."

"Probably there has been too little of this personal intercommunication in our Canadian life," Mr. Kelly said, "and experience proves there is no better means of understanding."

On their journey to visit Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, the Calgary chamber members traveled in the new CPR chateau cars with scenic domes, never before used on Western Canadian railways.

Maurice Hartnett, general manager of the Calgary Stampede, had a word of encouragement for the Vic-Van Isle Kinsmen Club, which plans a rodeo next month. The famed Stampede's shows and programs are all inspected by SPCA officials, who have not at any time made any complaints, he said.

The visitors will be in New Westminster today and will return home Saturday.

Another 19 visitors took a yacht trip to Sidney. Vessels included Fifer, owned by Hubert Wallace. Seventeen others were led on a fishing expedition by ruined by fellow tourists, who protested that this duty belonged to Calgary Mayor Don Mackay.

"You may look like the mayor, but you ain't," said one Calgarian.

"But the mayor isn't here," protested the astonished Mr. Jenkins. "I am merely deputizing for him."

"You've no right. Sit down and send the hat by mail," said another Calgarian.

Then as one visitor after another popped up and added his piece it dawned on the packed gathering that this was merely one of Calgary's celebrated jokes.

"I don't mind you presenting the hat to Dr. Cruise so long as it is a gift from Banff and Calgary chambers," said another interrupter. "If it hadn't been for Banff you money never have had enough money to drill your dirty little oil wells."

Eventually, in between the objections, Dr. Cruise got his hat gift from the Calgary chamber, and he firmly clamped it down on his head in case anyone should try to take it from him.

Gymkhana Set
For Sunday

Delayed by heavy rain last Sunday, the Colwood Trail Riders' fifth annual gymkhana will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the home of Major and Mrs. F. E. Womersley on Albert Head Road.

Signs along the highway will point the way to gymkhana, which will be highlighted by the exciting half-mile special event.

There will be 12 trophy events, including jumps, western competitions and novice contests.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, will lend his patronage, while officials are Aid. Geoffrey Edgewood, master of ceremonies, and Major H. Rivers, Rehitt, judge, assisted by Staff. Boyd and C. R. Moore.

NOT INVITED
PNE officials apparently did not invite Victoria to enter a float in the parade this year because such invitations have been turned down regularly in past years.

A 100-man guard from HMC's Naden, the Naden band, and a 45-man army contingent from Work Point consisted of servicemen from all parts of the Dominion.

The Shrine band has been in the PNE parade for the past four or five years and will give two performances a day at the PNE Shrine circus for the 11 days of the exhibition.

'DON'T CO-OPERATE'
One Shriner said yesterday that the Vancouver police band attends Victoria's May 24 parade but "they (Vancouver) don't co-operate with us much more than that."

Victoria's representative in the Miss PNE contest, 19-year-old Betty Dolman, 255 Cook, will go to the Mainland Saturday, Miss Dolman, queen of the B.C. Products Fair and also Victoria's May Queen will compete against other girls from all parts of the province.

The Miss PNE contest will be judged during the early part of next week and results will be announced Thursday night.

Suspension Stands

Irate Fishermen Charge
'McCarthyism' in TLC

Charges of "McCarthyism" the restrictive sections of the and of a "cold war" inside the constitution and a "stop to Trades and Labor Congress of attempted dictation to unions Canada have been made by the like the UFAWU," which they United Fishermen and Allied said are defending members' living standards.

A. L. Gordon, business agent, and Homer Stevens, secretary of the UFAWU, declared yesterday the suspension of the day they are confident trade UFAWU, ordered a year ago on unionists will call for eliminating the fishermen are ation of a "discriminatory" amendment to the TLC constitution.

This is used to throw good unions out of the congress by cause of alleged political opinion of one or two of their officers, the spokesman said.

They called for removal of the union.

Blood Donors
Fill Clinic

An excited Red Cross official nearly burst a blood vessel last night as she excitedly reported that 424 pints of the much-needed blood had been donated, yesterday's clinic.

"We are very, very pleased," she said. "And it all came from the good citizens of Victoria."

Total for the three days was 890 pupils—or 110 pupils less than the target, "which we never expected to get."

'But the Mayor Isn't Here'

Major Hitch Threatens
To Disrupt Hat Ceremony

A major hitch threatened for a while to mar the otherwise perfect organization of the Calgary Chamber of Commerce on its Victoria trip.

Toward the end of the Rotary-Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel, Ron Jenkins, a past president of the Calgary Rotary and a member of the Chamber of Commerce, rose to present Dr. John Cruise, Victoria Rotary president, with one of Calgary's famous 10-gallon white hats.

He was immediately interrupted by fellow tourists, who protested that this duty belonged to Calgary Mayor Don Mackay.

"You may look like the mayor, but you ain't," said one Calgarian.

"But the mayor isn't here," protested the astonished Mr. Jenkins. "I am merely deputizing for him."

"You've no right. Sit down and send the hat by mail," said another Calgarian.

Then as one visitor after another popped up and added his piece it dawned on the packed gathering that this

Mother Hammers Tot

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A 34-year-old mother, 34-year-old girl was reported to have suffered a near death in a fall from a second-story window on Thursday night. The girl, who was 14 years old, was found by a neighbor who called the police. The girl was taken to a hospital where she was treated for a broken leg and a concussion. The mother, Mrs. Mary Ann, was also taken to the hospital but was not injured. The girl was released on Friday morning and is expected to make a full recovery.

Bluejacket 'Bishop' Refugees Given Navy Baptism—Under Shower

MANILA, P.I. (AP) — An American ship, the USS Bluejacket, arrived in Manila today to receive refugees from the Philippines. The ship, commanded by Captain Bishop, was part of a fleet of American ships that have been sent to the Philippines to help the government in its fight against the communists. The refugees, who are mostly women and children, were given a baptism by the ship's chaplain. The baptism took place in the ship's mess hall, where the refugees were gathered. The chaplain, who is a member of the Navy, led the ceremony. The refugees were given a brief explanation of the Christian faith and then were baptized. The ceremony was a simple one, but it was a significant event for the refugees. They had never before been baptized, and they were now members of the Christian faith. Congressional Session Notable Mainly For Pro and Anti-McCarthy Headlines

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The 85th Congress opened its session today with headlines dominated by the debate over the loyalty of Joseph P. Kamp, a member of the House of Representatives. The debate was a reflection of the growing concern over the influence of communists in the government. The House voted to strip Kamp of his citizenship, a move that was seen as a victory for the anti-McCarthy faction. Rust Menaces 80,000,000 Bushels

Western wheat growers are warning that Canada's ripening wheat crop may be cut by more than 80,000,000 bushels this year because of a wind-borne fungus. The fungus, which is called "rust," is a dangerous enemy of wheat. It is a wind-borne fungus that can destroy the entire crop. It is a wind-borne fungus that can destroy the entire crop. City Men Remanded in Cheque Case

Barry J. Keele and Timothy E. Cordick, both of Victoria, have been remanded one week without plea on joint charges of uttering two forged cheques. Bail of $2,000 each was set in provincial police court at Colwood yesterday.

Robert Smith, charged with an alleged forged cheque for $66.83 cashed at a Goldstream beer parlor and another cheque for $67.50 cashed at a Colwood beer parlor.

Leonard Wilson, 521 Dupplin Road, yesterday was placed on a $500 good-behavior bond and given a one-year suspended sentence after being convicted of assaulting his wife.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said a jail term would be little use to the family.

Prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie had told the court Mrs. Wilson was prepared to try to effect a reconciliation.

Charles Smethurst, 2919 Richmond, was convicted of leaving the scene of an accident August 15 and was fined $50 or seven days in Saanich court.

Defense counsel, J. Ronald Grant, sought dismissal of the charge on grounds there was no evidence the accused had attempted to escape liability and that prosecution witnesses testified Smethurst had stopped for about five minutes.

The accused inspected his own car and was walking to the second vehicle involved when it drove off, Mr. Grant said.

Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the court there was evidence the accident occurred when Smethurst was in the wrong traffic lane. Complainant W. H. Ray had driven his car far to the right to avoid Smethurst and later followed the accused's car as it drove off to a Richmond Road address, the prosecutor said.

A speed of about 35 miles an hour through a Quadra Street playground brought Griffin C. Layne, 19, of 1312 Carsnew, a 30-day license suspension and a $25 fine.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in city court before Magistrate A. I. Thomas, who refused Layne's request to drive for business reason's only. The traffic offense conviction was Layne's second.

John Shaw of Brentwood, on remand for disposition of his driver's license, was restricted to business driving by Saanich license endorsed, after he

Joseph E. Bennett, 2815 Col-

Convicts To Help on New Prison

Inmates of Oakalla Prison Farm will help build their own new $2,000,000 prison at Haney, B.C.

Convict work parties will be used for clearing the site of the new prison. Provincial government officials have approved use of the prisoners for the work on the two-year project.

A government official said the procedure was "unusual" in the history of Oakalla, but also mean a saving in labor cost of the expensive clearing job.

At present there are so many inmates at Oakalla that many are not being kept busy. The use of prisoners will, of course, also mean a saving in labor cost of the expensive clearing job.

Contempt Quashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals yesterday reversed the contempt of Congress conviction of Mary Jane Keeney, former United Nations employee who balked at questioning of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

The conviction grew out of Mrs. Keeney's refusal to tell whether anyone in the state department helped her obtain a UN job.

The three judges who heard the case agreed unanimously that U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff erred in the admission of evidence.

One of the judges, John Danaher, said that from the very outset of the trial the jury heard Mrs. Keeney "linked to a nefarious worldwide Communist movement."

Increase Unlikely In Speed Limit

The 50-mile-an-hour speed limit will remain on British Columbia highways despite a plan to raise it to 60 on certain freeways in Ontario.

Government officials say B.C.'s highways are generally unsuitable for an increased limit, although it might be warranted in certain stretches.

George Lindsay, superintendent of motor vehicles, said that "generally speaking, our terrain doesn't warrant an increase in the limit."

Red-Style Chinese Culture Making Mark in Europe

LONDON (Reuters) — Chinese culture (Communist style) is making its biggest stamp on Eastern Europe for many centuries, possibly its biggest impact since Marco Polo (1254-1324) opened up the route between the Orient and the West.

Communist "culture" includes books, motion pictures, circus artists and folk dancers. But hand-in-hand with the "cultural" mission go scientists, technologists, traders and politicians.

There is a constant two-way trek, mostly by air, between the Communist capitals in Europe — headed by Moscow and Peking. Communist radio stations have described the comings and goings several times a week during the last few months.

U.S. Frees More Goods To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has enlarged the list of goods which other countries of the free world may ship to Russia and its European satellites without risking the loss of U.S. aid.

The net result, effective Wednesday, is a reduction of 80 items in the list of 257 which have been embargoed, director Harold E. Stassen of the Foreign Operations Administration said.

Items dropped were not fully listed. However, examples cited by Stassen showed the following have been taken from the embargo list but still left subject to surveillance as to quantity: Flat cars, tank cars, railcars, crude petroleum, diesel oil, locomotives with the exception of turbine types, reactors except special heavy types, non-military tires, platinum, cadmium, calcium, sodium, strontium, vanadium, asbestos and mica.

The relaxation applies only to shipments destined for Russia and its European bloc. There was no easing on embargoes of goods for shipment to Communist China, North Korea or the Communist area of North Viet Nam.

The announcement had nothing to do with U.S. exports, which are under the control of the commerce department, FOA said commerce would have an announcement of its own shortly.

Leader of India's 60,000,000 Untouchables Assails Nehru for Co-Existence Belief

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The leader of India's 60,000,000 untouchables criticized Prime Minister Nehru in parliament yesterday for his insistence that co-existence with the Communists is necessary and for his "hostility" toward the United States.

B. R. Ambedkar, Nehru's minister of law until he broke with the prime minister three years ago, launched a call for the "certain hostility" toward the world to accept peaceful co-existence with the Reds as the "only alternative" to a world war.

This principle, said the leader of India's lowest caste, has been adopted without much thought by the prime minister.

Ambedkar said Nehru has a "certain hostility" toward the United States and shows "repugnance" at anything suggested by America. He asserted this is one reason Nehru is against the U.S.-proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization project, adding that the prime minister also fears Russian reaction.

Earlier in the debate, Nehru found himself defending the United States when he told Communist questioners he does not believe the Americans are sending or will send arms to the Portuguese settlements India wants to take over.

Reds Take Assets Of U.S. Company

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Assets on the China mainland of the United States-owned Standard Vacuum Oil Company have been taken over by the Soviet Kwong Iwa Petroleum Company, according to a China Press Union report in the Hong Kong Daily News here Monday. Since June all assets and equipment had been turned over to the Soviet-owned Kwong Iwa Petroleum Company, it added.

The official Polish news agency reports that the volume of trade between Poland and Communist China today is 15 times greater than in 1937. A regular shipping service opened in 1945 between the two countries.

Chou Did Best

Chou En-lai, Red China's premier and foreign minister, did his best to cement the growing "co-operation" between his country and the Red states of Europe on his way home from the Geneva conference this summer. He visited East Germany, Poland and Russia, and was given state receptions in all countries.

The official Polish news agency reports that the volume of trade between Poland and Communist China today is 15 times greater than in 1937. A regular shipping service opened in 1945 between the two countries.

TLC Delegates Clash Over Discrimination

REGINA (CP)—Racial discrimination in Canada erupted into one of the warmest issues to hit the Trades and Labor Congress convention since it opened Monday.

As delegates approved continued congress action to fight discrimination, two of the country's senior labor leaders tangled Thursday over a charge that Jewish contractors are exploiting labor.

Jack Bruce of Toronto, 79-year-old Canadian head of the plumbers' union, made the accusation against Jewish contractors in Toronto.

Bernard Shone of Montreal, International vice-president of the Garment Workers' Union projects for Canadians to get and Canada's top Jewish labor a job at a living wage.

Those whom we've liberated are exploiting us in Toronto to a degree," he said. Because of low pay accepted by immigrants, it was impossible on some of the Montreal city council and is a former Liberal member of the Quebec legislature.

Jodoin, a brawny six-footer who has been an organizer for the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and Quebec vice-president of the congress, succeeded 71-year-old Percy Bengough of Vancouver, who had retired after a dozen years as president.

He won over R. K. Gervin, 46, of Vancouver, British Columbia vice-president, and Allister F. MacArthur, 43, of Toronto, president of the TLC's Ontario Federation of Labor.

In the TLC's first presidential election in 12 years—Bengough was always acclaimed—Jodoin won Canadian labor's most influential post on the first ballot. The vote was Jodoin, 355; Gervin, 172; MacArthur, 151.

Five years a vice-president of man, angrily replied that the Jews have no monopoly on exploiters.

The exchange came as the convention discussed and eventually adopted a report from its committee on racial discrimination saying there is still much discrimination in Canada and deploring "antagonisms" toward immigrants.

Bruce, discussing the report, heatedly called for "reciprocity" from the new arrivals.

"Those whom we've liberated are exploiting us in Toronto to a degree," he said. Because of low pay accepted by immigrants, it was impossible on some of the Montreal city council and is a former Liberal member of the Quebec legislature.

CALGARY MURDER SUSPECT NABBED

U.S. Police Hold Man

Fingerprints Reported Same As Those of Girl's Slayer

CALGARY (CP)—A man whose fingerprints are reported to tally with those of Donald Winslow Henderson, Canada's most-wanted criminal and alleged murderer of a young girl here, is in custody of South San Francisco police, the Calgary police officials said Thursday.

Authorities said they were advised by the U.S. police that the suspect was arrested Thursday after a check of his fingerprints. He had been arrested a week ago on a liquor charge and released, but the fingerprint sent police out to pick him up again.

Capt. August Terragno of the south San Francisco homicide detail said the man was going under the name of Raymond Martin.

Henderson is wanted by Calgary police in connection with the slaying of his fiancée, Yvonne Levesque, in a Calgary tourist cabin August 11, 1949. The RCMP has had him at the top of their most-wanted criminals list for some time.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was working as a draftsman for a San Francisco factory.

The U.S. official said the man denied he had ever been in Canada and likely would force extradition proceedings before he could be taken out of the country. He had been in south San Francisco for two months, going there from Portland, Ore.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was single and living in a rooming house, and appeared to have "a pretty fair job."

Henderson disappeared from a cabin at the Inglewood tourist camp in east Calgary the day of the 1949 slaying as police tried unsuccessfully to revive Miss Levesque, who had been fatally beaten.

A few days later he was identified by a rooming house keeper in Winnipeg, but disappeared again before police arrived and was never seen again.

Calgary police said they are waiting further information from south San Francisco before planning any move.

After it has been learned if the suspect will return to Calgary voluntarily, detectives will then decide on plans to escort him and lay formal charges.

Meanwhile, Calgary police have instructed authorities in the U.S. to hold the suspect in custody.

When John L. Thornton, 25, was home on an army furlough in 1952, he saw a picture of a beautiful blond girl in the window of a photo studio here.

A card under the picture said the girl had won second place honors in a national beauty contest for sightless girls. Thornton forgot her. Six months later, he was blinded in action in Korea.

On September 25, Thornton will marry Joyce Campbell, 21, the Clouet blind girl.

The two have never seen each other, but met by chance in April of 1953.

"It was a blind date," Joyce laughed. "I always hoped I would marry a blind man." Joyce said "It gives us a solid foundation for marriage." She lost her sight at 13 after being hit in the eye by an icy snowball.

They Can Be Wrong

LONDON (Reuters)—A columnist for the mass-circulation Daily Mirror mulled over the famed saying, "50,000,000 Frenchmen can't be wrong," and came to two conclusions: 1, "There aren't that many," and 2, French deputies "are almost certainly going to prove that 42,000,000 Frenchmen CAN be wrong" by their vote on the European Defense Community Saturday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Slick thieves Thursday carted off a small safe holding nearly $250,000—mostly in securities—from a private home in the wealthy Riverdale section of the Bronx.

Indian Protest Rejected

LISBON, Portugal (Reuters)—Portugal has rejected an Indian protest claiming that Portuguese troops shot and killed an unarmed "union with India" demonstrator last August 16 at Tiracol fort in the Portuguese colony of Goa.

Co-Existence Only Hope, Says Nehru

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told parliament Thursday "co-existence" is the only alternative to co-existence with Communist countries.

"Whether he likes the present state of affairs in the world or not, one has in fact to choose between a policy likely to lead to war in the biggest scale and acceptance of the general approach meant by the word co-existence," Nehru declared.

Nehru defined co-existence as nations existing where they are and not interfering with each other. He said India and Red China are bound to come together either in a friendly or unfriendly way and he wants it to be friendly.

Columbia-educated B. R. Ambedkar, spokesman for 60,000,000 untouchables countered that Nehru shows repugnance at anything suggested by the United States.

PNE Selects Principals In Controversial Wedding

VANCOUVER (CP)—The principals in the Pacific National Exhibition's "million-dollar" wedding were chosen Thursday in the midst of a chorus of protest from city clergymen who labelled the proposed ceremony a "cheap publicity stunt."

While the ethical aspect of the September 2 wedding was being debated heatedly between PNE officials and clergymen, the PNE announced the selection of Marion Jane MacDonald and former disc jockey Wilf Ray as the bride and groom-to-be. They were chosen from a field of 12 finalists.

Ray, now a real estate agent, criticized what he termed the "ugly slant" some people have taken on the wedding and added: "They are forgetting about the bride and groom."

Ray said Miss MacDonald, whom he met while working in a radio station 4½ years ago, had planned their marriage "long before" the couple had ever heard of the "exhibition" wedding.

"... It was going to cost us a lot and then fate came along to give us a big wedding effect without costing us too much money," said Ray. "Now we can put the money into a house and other things."

The wedding, sponsored by a Vancouver jewelry firm which is adorning the bride in $1,000,000 worth of diamonds, was originally planned for the PNE gayway, with a false church-front in the background.

But clerical protests prompted PNE officials to move the location to a theatre on the exhibition grounds.

However, no minister has yet agreed to officiate at the ceremony, and many reiterated their charges of "commercial, mockery, late and stunt."

Duke Happy Pumping Mud From Ancient Galleon

TOBERMORY, Scotland (AP)—The 51-year-old Duke of Argyll pumped mud at a furious rate Thursday, having as much fun as a kid digging for treasure.

And treasure was what the duke was after, out on the rippling surface of misty Tobermory Bay.

On a little ship of the type the Scots call a puffer, the duke was managing the machinery clearing four centuries of silt from the old galleon of the Spanish armada, the Duc de Florencia.

Wrecked in the ill-fated Spanish attempt to conquer Britain, the galleon lies in 12 fathoms of water. There is a thrilling story that it is full of gold, and maybe holds a king's crown.

The galleon and what's in it belongs to the duke, except one-hundredth part which belongs to the Queen. It is the duke's by virtue of a "deed of gift" made to his forebears by King Charles I in 1642.

Every couple of years the duke has a go at salvaging the galleon. Thus far he has recovered some cups and saucers, two bronze cannons, some chunks of timber and a few coins.

A card under the picture said the girl had won second place honors in a national beauty contest for sightless girls. Thornton forgot her. Six months later, he was blinded in action in Korea.

On September 25, Thornton will marry Joyce Campbell, 21, the Clouet blind girl.

The two have never seen each other, but met by chance in April of 1953.

"It was a blind date," Joyce laughed. "I always hoped I would marry a blind man." Joyce said "It gives us a solid foundation for marriage." She lost her sight at 13 after being hit in the eye by an icy snowball.

Miss Victoria Tests Stetson

A smiling Miss Victoria, Betty Dolman, beamed as J. TLC Convention Gets Hot On Racial Discrimination

REGINA (CP)—Racial discrimination in Canada erupted into one of the warmest issues to hit the Trades and Labor Congress convention since it opened Monday.

As delegates approved continued congress action to fight discrimination, two of the country's senior labor leaders tangled Thursday over a charge that Jewish contractors are exploiting labor.

Jack Bruce of Toronto, 79-year-old Canadian head of the plumbers' union, made the accusation against Jewish contractors in Toronto.

Bernard Shane of Montreal, international vice-president of the Garment Workers' Union and Canada's top Jewish labor man, angrily replied that the Jews have no monopoly on exploiters.

The exchange came as the

Claude Jodoin Picked To Succeed Bengough

REGINA (CP)—Claude Jodoin, 41, of Montreal, was elected Thursday as president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the youngest head of the TLC in its 70-year history.

Jodoin, a brawny six-footer who has been an organizer for the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and Quebec vice-president of the congress, succeeded 71-year-old Percy Bengough of Vancouver, who had retired after a dozen years as president.

He won over R. K. Gervin, 46, of Vancouver, British Columbia vice-president, and Allister F. of the Quebec legislature.

Man Wanted in Calgary Slaying Believed Held by Police in U.S.

Fingerprints Tally, Authorities State

CALGARY (CP)—A man whose fingerprints are reported to tally with those of Donald Winslow Henderson, Canada's most-wanted criminal and alleged murderer of a young girl here, is in custody of South San Francisco police, the Calgary police officials said Thursday.

Authorities said they were advised by the U.S. police that the suspect was arrested Thursday after a check of his fingerprints. He had been arrested a week ago on a liquor charge and released, but the fingerprint sent police out to pick him up again.

Capt. August Terragno of the south San Francisco homicide detail said the man was going under the name of Raymond Martin.

Henderson is wanted by Calgary police in connection with the slaying of his fiancée, Yvonne Levesque, in a Calgary tourist cabin August 11, 1949. The RCMP has had him at the top of their most-wanted criminals list for some time.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was working as a draftsman for a San Francisco factory.

The U.S. official said the man denied he had ever been in Canada and likely would force extradition proceedings before he could be taken out of the country. He had been in south San Francisco for two months, going there from Portland, Ore.

Capt. Terragno said Martin was single and living in a rooming house, and appeared to have "a pretty fair job."

Henderson disappeared from a cabin at the Inglewood tourist camp in east Calgary the day of the 1949 slaying as police tried unsuccessfully to revive Miss Levesque, who had been fatally beaten.

A few days later he was identified by a rooming house keeper in Winnipeg, but disappeared again before police arrived and was never seen again.

AWAIT INFORMATION

Calgary police said they are waiting further information from south San Francisco before planning any move.

After it has been learned if the suspect will return to Calgary voluntarily, detectives will then decide on plans to escort him and lay formal charges.

Meanwhile, Calgary police have instructed authorities in the U.S. to hold the suspect in custody.

Mayhews Home—To Stay

Back home in Victoria to stay are Hon. Robert Mayhew, Canada's retiring ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Mayhew. The former Victoria MP was met by more than 100 persons, including civic and government dignitaries. The two returned yesterday aboard the frigate HMCS New Glasgow. (See story on Page 5.)

Red Chinese Raid Nationalist Island

TOKYO (AP)—About 40 Chinese Communist soldiers made a hit-and-run raid on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy, just off the Red mainland, Peiping radio said yesterday.

Peiping claimed two squads of 20 men each made two separate landings on the island Monday night, killed 11 Nationalist soldiers and captured one, then withdrew.

An earlier broadcast had announced a successful landing by "people's liberation forces," but it gave no hint of the scope of the attack, nor did it mention that the attackers withdrew.

KILLED IN SLEEP

The latest broadcast said one of the two attacking squads "penetrated the defense line" on Quemoy and found two groups of sleeping Nationalist soldiers. Ten of the sleepers were killed and one captured, Peiping said. The other squad claimed it killed a Nationalist soldier found bathing.

The raiders were from Fukien province, nearest mainland point to Quemoy.

The U.S. 7th Fleet is in the Far East under basic instructions to defend Formosa, island stronghold of the Nationalist government. The state department in Washington had no comment on the raid.

WEEKS OF THREATS

For several weeks the Red radio has blared threats that the Communists were going to "liberate" Formosa and destroy the government of Chiang Kai-shek.

But even if the Reds captured Quemoy, they would be far from their goal. Formosa is 100 miles from the mainland and guarded by 600,000 American armed troops.

Washington officials minimized the sneak landings as a small skirmish, possibly a reconnaissance raid.

"The Red Chinese talk of 'liberating' Formosa has been discounted all along. To military officials, the lack of any reported troop movement along the coast opposite Formosa has meant no large-scale assault landing is in the offing."

To diplomats, political factors inside China indicate army and to separate her from Peiping can not deliver on its loud talk.

U.S. Scraps Plans To Reduce 7th Fleet

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. navy said yesterday that plans for cutting the size of other areas in the Far East and the U.S. 7th Fleet have been scrapped because of Red China's threat to invade Formosa.

Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, Wednesday stirred speculation that U.S. naval forces in the Pacific might be cut sharply because there are no longer any shooting wars in the area.

But a naval spokesman said plans for a gradual reduction were set aside because of the "touchy situation" regarding Formosa. The 7th Fleet will be kept strong as long as it is needed to guard Formosa, he said.

GUARDS ISLANDS

The 7th Fleet, built around four aircraft carriers, now has the duty of defending Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands against any Communist invasion—something the Reds have been threatening in increasingly belligerent tones in recent weeks.

Discussions are now going on within the administration over whether to extend U.S. commitment to some of the off-shore islands still held by the Chinese Nationalist forces.

In Seoul withdrawal of an undisclosed number of jet fighter planes and light bombers of the 5th Air Force from Korea in a mass reshuffle of American air power in the Far East was announced today.

De Gaulle Blast Hits EDC Hopes

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Thursday, signed a scathing denunciation of the European Defense Community plan as supporters of the treaty fought to save it from collapse in a last-appraisal French Parliament debate.

De Gaulle, Second World War commander of Free French forces, threw his still great prestige into the scales against EDC in a manifesto assailing it as a "plot to deprive France of her independence and of her army and to separate her from her overseas territories."
